

GIANTS WIN THE FOURTH

Get One of Series With Boston Doves.

SENATORS MAKE IT FOUR

St. Louis Loses, Making It a Close Contest Between the Two for Place Next to Bottom—Other League Games.

Boston, Sept. 19.—The last National League game until October 4 was played at the South End grounds yesterday afternoon between the Giants and the Doves.

The New York team turned the tables on the Bostons and easily avenged the score of three successive defeats by taking yesterday's game with a 10 to 2 score.

The Giants made the win on account of their ability to connect with the deliveries of Flaherty and Linderman, who took turns on the slab for Boston, making a total of 14 hits of the artists. Lynch, the New York pitcher, was hit for a total of six and walked four.

The scores: 1.2.3.4.5.6.7.8.9.
New York ..... 2.1.3.2.1.9.0.1.10.
Boston ..... 0.0.0.0.0.0.2.0.7.

INQUIRY ON DEATH OF A "SCIENTIST."

Dr. Brinemade Says Miss Fox's Friends Meant to Use No Remedy.

New York, Sept. 19.—Miss Nellie G. Fox, 47 years old, died at her home from tuberculosis, and Dr. Daniel Brinemade, who was called to see the woman since Aug. 10, issued a death certificate which the health department refused to accept and notified Coroner Harberger.

"Miss Fox was an adherent of Christian Science," said Dr. Brinemade. "I don't understand why they called me in as it was plain they did not mean to use any remedy I might prescribe. However, the woman was so far gone that death was inevitable."

Coroner Harberger ordered Dr. O'Hare to make an autopsy. At the Fox home last night relatives denied that Miss Fox was a Christian Scientist and said she never had been treated by a Christian Science healer.

CHICAGO TO COPY BOSTON PARK SYSTEM.

Representative Is New Here and Will Carry Away Boston Ideas.

Boston, Sept. 19.—Boston borrowed Chicago ideas on street cleaning and now Chicago may borrow Boston's ideas on park systems.

Frederick Greeley, a member of the park commission of Chicago, visited the office of Mayor Folgerowski yesterday on his return from a vacation spent in the White mountains.

His purpose here is to investigate the systems of parks and public playgrounds of this city. He believes that the plan of the system in Boston is quite the best in the country, and wants the Chicago Park Board, of which he is a member, to pattern after it. Mr. Greeley leaves for Montreal tonight.

Sparrow Egg Inside Hen's Egg Hatches Out.

Bangor, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Henry Harris of Skowhegan broke a common egg in a bowl the other morning. In so doing she noticed another little egg in the bowl with a shell on it, which proved to be a sparrow's egg. Mrs. Harris called Mr. Harris to explain what the strange discovery meant. Mr. Harris took the sparrow's egg and broke it. Inside the shell he found a tiny sparrow chick. Several have been seen on the outskirts of the village in the past few days.

An auto party which stopped here on their way from Bangor to Jaffrey Sunday reported that as they were passing through Madfield there suddenly appeared two big bears near the Berlin Mills and, so frightened, the children ran almost rat-a-tat across over a precipice and also hardly scared the ladies.

With the open hunting season for partridges, many hunters were on the open Monday morning. Partridges are reported as being very plentiful, and a fine hunting season is promised.

FOOT BALL RULES REVISED.

The New Methods Is Adopted in Codification.

Since the promulgation of the revised foot ball rules for the coming season, players and others interested in the game have become thoroughly familiar with the changes that have been made in the playing code and are pretty well prepared to go upon the field and play the game. The few changes have all been in the line of advancement and it is generally conceded that football this fall will be even more open and interesting than in past years.

In connection with the revised rules, it is interesting to note that there has been a complete reclassification of the regulations for the game. Up to this year the code has been a fearfully and wonderfully made conglomeration. From year to year rules have been changed, amended, cut and readjusted, with now and then an explanatory note tacked in. Notes and explanations have become a part of the rules in many instances and in other it has been quite impossible to tell which is one thing and which another.

Experts worked over the rules last winter and brought order out of chaos. They found that notes in former editions had taken positions of equal rank and force with the rules. In these instances they were made rules. In other cases they were merely interpretations of the rules, recommendations or mere suggestions.

In such cases they were taken out of the rules entirely and appended in their proper position. This has resulted in greatly simplifying the code and making the rules intelligible.

In revising the rules experts went into the work and proceeded to get them into the most compact form consistent with the perfect clearness. The way began and the result is interesting. They took the game of football with an idea of telling to a person utterly ignorant of the sport just what it is and how it is played. The uninitiated would naturally ask what kind of a game foot ball is and the very first rule tells him that it is an outdoor game, played on a rectangular field. It tells the size of the field, and the second section tells it is marked. The third section explains the goals. How is it played? is naturally the next question. Rule two explains that it is played with a football of certain form. Who plays this game of football? Rule three explains about players and substitutes. Then comes the length of the game, how it is scored, and definitions of the game used in its playing.

So it is all through the revised rules. The uninitiated is carried right through from the kick-off, the position of the players at scrimmage and in various other situations. After the players' positions at all times have been determined, the game starts by putting the ball in play by various methods. There is bound to be a delay very soon, and this explained, together with the unlawful interference with the play that crops out a few minutes later in the course of a game. Thus the game is carried through in the rules, each rule following the other naturally and in sequence.

An important feature are the rules of foul which are given the points and the rules in question when the referee, the umpire, the field judge and the linesman has jurisdiction, thus enabling one to turn immediately to the rule under discussion. The revised rules may now be read and understood by anyone interested in the game.

The purpose here is to investigate the systems of parks and public playgrounds of this city. He believes that the plan of the system in Boston is quite the best in the country, and wants the Chicago Park Board, of which he is a member, to pattern after it. Mr. Greeley leaves for Montreal tonight.

AUTOISTS SCARED BY BEARS IN MAINE.

Bruin Also Played Hawk With Sheep Among Farmers of Phillips.

Phillips, Me., Sept. 19.—Franklin County bears celebrated the opening of the hunting season by a slaughter of 20 lambs of the flock of A. R. Sedgwick, who has a farm on Tary Hill.

Mr. Sedgwick notified Superintendent C. E. Chandler of his loss and an investigation is in progress to determine whether Bruin or dogs are responsible for the whole scale killing of the lambs.

Farmer Wrester, who lives near Troy Hill, reported recently the killing of several of his lambs by bears. Several have been seen on the outskirts of the village in the past few days.

An auto party which stopped here on their way from Bangor to Jaffrey Sunday reported that as they were passing through Madfield there suddenly appeared two big bears near the Berlin Mills and, so frightened, the children ran almost rat-a-tat across over a precipice and also hardly scared the ladies.

I shall arouse the people of New England, as a public duty, to have this railroad horror probed to the bottom," he said yesterday morning.

I shall deliver a series of speeches to the people of this state, calling for action.

The blame has not yet been fixed for the horror, nor will it be fixed until the investigation has been made a public probe.

I will also demand that the Boston & Maine conduct their investigation in the open, and that nothing shall be left to a single commission of railroad officials, but to a joint commission of public investigators, who shall determine where the blame for the train crash must be placed.

It will be the only race on Tuesday.

But on Wednesday, October 2, there will be two races, one for two cylinder cars in a 10 mile race, the
